

Rainwater Harvesting in Tanzania

Presented by Kelly Coleman and Donna Boyd

Rainwater harvesting can and is leading to many benefits besides quenching the thirst of people in Tanzania. The organization Save the Rain, Inc is having a very large impact on a thirsty Tanzania.

The Mount Shasta Rotary Club through partnerships has done a fantastic job at bringing water to Tanzania. There are several side benefits to putting in the rainwater collection tanks.

The planting of trees is a very large associated project that is essential if there is to be much rain. The recent Mount Shasta project planted some 3000 trees in a rural Arusha area. The trees will definitely help to produce rain. Another side effect is the establishment of substantial agriculture with vegetables and other types of food being produced.

Water means sanitation for you Tanzanians. Having the water to wash their hands has a very positive effect on many of the water born diseases found in the area. Part of the Mount Shasta recent project was the establishment of 10 hand washing stations in the Arusha area elementary schools

Another effect of Rotary joint projects has been the unmasking of children with spina bifida. These children have been hidden for years. Now with the help of Rotary, wheel chairs have been provided with most of these children attending school and even going on to higher education.

All this fantastic work to produce rainwater collection system has given many Tanzanians a job including widows who have very few rights once their husbands die. This gives these ladies independence and a sense of worth.

The Mount Shasta Rotary Club with its partners was able to raise some $82,500. With matching contributions from District 5160 and Rotary International the final amount put to use is a whopping $375,000. Great work Mount Shasta Rotary.

President Richard's Recognitions

Being a Past President gives no immunity to being recognized. Just when PP Ray Stewart started to relax being just a spectator at the regular Redding Rotary meeting, Prez Richard got word that Ray had just made a 400 lb. dining room table from a special wood imported from South Africa. Just how the wood found it's way into the U.S. only Ray knows. The table is said to be a work of art.

Ray made it very clear he wanted his $100 contribution to go to the Redding Rotary Foundation.

Bobby Ranger tried to sneak away to a golf tournament. With his partner they did very well at the tourney only to fall to second place having problems with a chipping contest to decide the winner. Bobby also wants his $100 to go directly to the Rotary Foundation.

Janice Cunningham was next in Richard's crosshairs. He held up a book with a Chevy Corvette on the cover. Seems that Janice's husband Shane has a new 2006 Corvette. The color Daytona Orange. That should get the attention of the CHP. Janice made it a three some with her $100 going to the Redding Rotary Foundation.

Thanks to all for your very generous contribution to our Redding Rotary Foundation.
